

CDB Annual Report wins national design prize

September 10, 2005 – The 2004 annual report published by the RIKEN Center for Developmental Biology (Kobe, Japan) was recognized with top honors at the Japan Graphic Services Industry Association (JaGra) prize ceremony held in Tokyo earlier this month. The best-in-category prize, for Commercial Publications, was awarded to TRAIS K.K., the design company that produced the report, at a ceremony attended by more than 480 industry delegates and representatives of government ministries.

The annual report presents an overview of research achievements and other activities for the period of January-December 2004, as well as introducing the research programs for all labs active in the CDB during that year. A striking image of a cell extending filopodia is featured on the cover, setting the tone for the visually dynamic and eye-catching design of the entire publication. Click here to view the 2004 RIKEN CDB annual report online in Flash or HTML format, or to download a PDF file suitable for printing.