CDB welcomes new Group Director

April 24, 2014– The RIKEN CDB has appointed Takashi Tsuji as a new Group Director to start in April 2014. As Group Director, he will have a role in the administrative operations of the CDB in addition to his research program, the Laboratory for Organ Regeneration. Tsuji's group will work to gain a comprehensive understanding of the underlying principles of organogenesis during embryonic development and to develop technologies for use in regenerative medicine.

Dr. Tsuji joins the CDB from the Research Institute for Science and Technology, Tokyo University of Science.
